

WAYS OF MENDING

RENTS SHOULD BE ATTENDED TO AT ONCE.

Time Saved and a Better Job Done if Delay in Necessary Work is Avoided—Pressing of Darns When Finished.

Rents will look much better when mended if they are attended to at once, because the longer they are left the more ragged the edge becomes.

Lay the garment right side down and put the edges of the rent as close together as possible; cut a piece of tissue rather larger than the space that is torn and lay on the top.

Take a piece of thin woolen material the same size as the tissue and as near the color of the cloth as possible; lay that on top of the tissue and when placed exactly in the right position iron with a hot iron until the patch adheres to the garment. The heat will cause the tissue to dissolve, forming a kind of glue.

If the material is of light weight goods it will be best to use a patch of the same, but if the material is heavy, such as is used in men's suits or coats, a lighter patch will be much better.

A clean cut in heavy material may be mended by putting the two edges firmly together and basting them to a piece of paper on the right side. This work is done between the cloth.

Take a thread and insert the needle about three-eighths of an inch from the edge and carry it between the cloth to about half an inch the other side of the cut and draw the thread through; put the needle in where it came out and carry it to the other side about one-half an inch beyond the edge in a slightly slanting position.

Continue to do this until the whole cut is darned. Be careful not to pull too tight. Darn it in the same way in the opposite direction.

It is difficult to use this method of mending if the edges are the least bit frayed, and on thin materials it must be done with the greatest care, using the finest needle and thread possible.

All darns should be pressed when finished. To do this lay the right side down on an ironing board and on the wrong side lay a damp cloth and press with a hot iron until perfectly dry.

Baked Celery with Cheese.

Three cupsful celery, cut into such pieces, one cupful state bread crumbs, three-quarters of a cupful grated cheese, one-half cupful milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful flour. Cook the celery in boiling salted water until tender, drain thoroughly and set aside half a cupful of the liquid. Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add the flour, and mix smooth, turn in the milk and the half cupful of celery liquid. Bring to a boil and cook three minutes, stirring constantly; add half a cupful of the cheese, stir until it melts, then mix in the celery, adding salt, paprika, or cayenne. Melt the remaining tablespoonful of butter and moisten the bread crumbs with it. Put the celery and crumbs into a baking dish in alternate layers, having the last layer crust, and sprinkle the remainder of the cheese over the top. Bake on the upper rack of the oven until a medium brown, and serve hot.

A New Color.

A golden tan in a soft, beautiful shade, is going to be one of the leading spring colors. It goes by the euphonious name of dead apricot, showing somewhat the same peachy yellow tints as that fruit.

One can get an idea of it by looking at the tan shoes for spring, which are in this new golden yellow effect.

A charming gown in dead apricot silk was worn on the stage in a notable production. It is not a color to be rashly attempted, but if one is sure of its becomingness it is an up-to-date choice for an afternoon or evening gown.

Waffles (Sweet Milk).

Pass through a sieve together two cups of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat the yolks of two eggs, add one cup of milk, and stir into the dry ingredients with four tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Lastly, add the whites of two eggs, beaten dry. Have the waffle iron hot and well oiled, put a tablespoonful of batter on each section, set the cover in place; when baked to a golden brown on one side, turn, and brown the other side. Waffles are crisp griddle cakes.

White Petticoats.

Parisianes are favoring the trim little hand-embroidered white petticoats to wear with walking costumes, and with the advent of spring these very cleanly garments will entirely supplant those of silk. For street wear a firm cambric is used, with flounces and underruffle embroidered in a fancy scalloped edge, a few simple sprays above. For the lingerie frocks, the petticoats are the most wonderful creations of lace and fine hand work.

MAN OF DELICATE NERVES.

Rosenthal, the Pianist, Made Much Trouble in Hotel.

Rosenthal, the pianist, is one of those entitled to have his crankiness termed "the eccentricities of genius," says the San Francisco Chronicle. When he inspected his rooms at the Majestic upon his arrival very late the other night, he went softly to the adjoining doors, and placing his ear close to the cracks, exclaimed in broken English, "Zgodd, no sounds pass threes." After nodding his approval of the grand piano and the furniture he frowned at the tan-colored window shades. "Must be green." He was assured that a change would be made especially for him the next day.

At five o'clock in the morning Rosenthal, clad only in his pajamas, came scurrying excitedly down stairs and into the office, where the drowsy night clerk was nodding at the desk. "Ze street cars! Noise! Must stop! Nervous me! I cannot sleep."

The clerk hurriedly sent for Manager Gustav Mann, and Mann spent two hours telling Rosenthal funny stories in German trying to divert his mind while the clerk was upstairs squaring the mangel for waking a guest on the Gough street side and ordering him to move at once to the Sutter street side as a gas pipe had burst under the floor and had to be repaired.

PE-RU-NA A MEDICAL COMPOUND

In any medical compound as much depends upon the manner in which it is compounded as upon the ingredients used.

First, there must be a due proportion of the ingredients. Each drug in the pharmacopeia has its special action. To combine any drug with other drugs that have slightly different action, the combination must be made with strict reference to the use for which the compound is intended. The drugs may be well selected as to their efficacy, but the compound ENTIRELY SPOILED BY THE PROPORTION in which they are combined.

It takes years and years of experience to discover this proportion. There is no law of chemistry, of pharmacy, by which the exact balance of proportion can be determined. EXPERIENCE IS THE ONLY GUIDE.

In compounding a catarrh remedy Dr. Hartman has had many years' experience. In the use of the various ingredients which compose the catarrh remedy, Peru, he has learned, little by little, how to harmonize the action of each ingredient, how to combine them into a stable compound, how to arrange them into such nice proportions as to blend the taste, the operation and the chemical peculiarities of each several ingredient in order to produce a pharmaceutical product beyond the criticism of doctors, pharmacists or chemists.

WE REPEAT, THAT AS MUCH DEPENDS ON THE WAY IN WHICH THE DRUGS ARE COMBINED AS DEPENDS UPON THE DRUGS THEMSELVES.

The compound must present a stability which is not affected by changes of temperature, not affected by exposure to the air, not affected by age. It must be so combined that it will remain just the same whether used in the logging or mining camps of the northwest or the coffee plantations of the tropics.

A complete list of the ingredients of Peru would not enable any druggist or physician to reproduce Peru. It is the skill and sagacity by which these ingredients are brought together that give Peru much of its peculiar claims as an efficacious catarrh remedy.

However much virtue each ingredient of Peru may possess, the value of the compound depends largely upon the manner and proportion in which they are combined. The right ingredients, put together rightly, is the only way a medical compound can be made of real value.
